Stubbornly contesting every inch of ground from the beginning to the end of a fiercely fought game, the University of North Carolina eleven was defeated at Broad Street Park yesterday by the eleven of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute. One touchdown in the first half and a touchdown and field goal in the second was the best the Orange and Marion team could do against opponents who had been regarded as easy until a few days ago when reports from Chapel Hill were that the Tarheels would come to Richmond confident of victory. Although devoid of spectacular plays, and seldom featured by long runs, the contest was a wonderful exhibition of modernized football, and indicated that the two Southern teams, both of which seek championship honors in the South Atlantic Division of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association, will prove worthy foes against any antagonist. Players on both sides showed an eagerness that added spirit to the play, and a dash that added to the brilliancy of every effort. Threatening clouds hung over the park during the greater part of the afternoon, but when the whistle blew for the beginning of the second half a drizzling rain had ceased to fall, and spectators that had been driven to the covers of grandstand and bleachers swarmed about the side lines. Neither team was represented by a large corte of followers, but when men on either team figured conspicuously the crowd was about evenly divided in its applause. Just before the game rain was falling fast, and this probably kept the attendance down to about one-third what it might have been under clear skies. Nevertheless, the rain was not enough to interfere with the players, who seemed when in action to give no heed to anything except the task set before them. The ball was never too

WILLIAM AND MARY EASY FOR HAMPDEN-SIDNEY

Championship Game Goes to Presbyterians by Score of 22 to 3--All Scoring of Winners Done in Second Half.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] HAMPDEN-SIDNEY COLLEGE, VA., November 6.—Sweeping down the field like a young hurricane, Hampden-Sidney won the championship game from William and Mary this afternoon by the score of 22 to 3. The first half was hotly contested, and though most of the playing was in the visitors' territory, Hampden-Sidney was unable to score. After advancing the ball to William and Mary's one-yard line, Baumgardner, who was playing center, moved the ball, thus putting it into play, and it being the third down, it was given to William and Mary. William and Mary Scores First. Just before the half ended the visitors got the ball on Hampden-Sidney's forty-yard line, and Driver dropped a beautiful goal. Score: William and Mary 3; Hampden-Sidney, 0. Hampden-Sidney came back strong in the second half and played rings around the visitors. Lewis went in as full back, and after about three minutes of play, by successive line plunges, carried the ball over. Bernier kicked goal. The next score came in about eight minutes of play, when, after advancing the ball to within striking distance of the visitors' goal on several exchanges of punts, the ball was carried to William and Mary's thirty-yard line, and Yeager and Lewis carried the ball over. Yeager missed goal. After this the visitors could do nothing with the terrific onslaught of Hampden-Sidney's backs, and two more touchdowns were scored. Walker, Yeager and Hundley advanced the ball close to the goal, and Lewis took it over. Yeager, again failed, to kick goal. The last score came with only a minute to play, when Yeager caught a punt and ran forty yards through a broken field, and Lewis took the ball over. Blanton kicked goal. Score: Hampden-Sidney, 22; William and Mary, 3. While the whole team played good, hard ball, Blanton, Yeager, Lewis, Jett and Bernier stood out conspicuously. For the visitors, Driver, Parker, and Paramour played well. Time of halves, 30 minutes. Umpire, Hagerman, Columbia. Referee, Hammond, Johnson, Virginia. Timekeepers, Osborne and Hunt. Head Linesman, Kay. The line-up: H. S. Position. W. and M. Foster, left end. Goodwin, Buchanan, left tackle. Peatross (Campbell), left guard. Graves, Baumgardner, center. Lee (McClintock), right guard. Mara (Collier), Hundley, right tackle. Haley Smith, right end. Parker (Payne), Blanton, quarter. Squink Bernier, left half. Parmour (Walker), Yeager, right half. Driver, McClintock, full back. Browne (Lewis).

LAWLER SIGNED TO MANAGE COLTS

New York Outfielder Has Good Record, and Is Highly Recommended.

W. B. Bradley, owner of the Richmond Baseball Club, returned from New York yesterday, where he signed J. J. Lawler, late pilot of the Macon team, of the South Atlantic League, to manage the Colts next season. Lawler is an outfielder, and comes to Virginia highly recommended. His average batting record is said to be above .300, while he fields at about .880. Perry H. Lipe, manager for Richmond for the past two seasons, was notified of the change by letter yesterday, and will not play here next season. The new manager of the Utica Club, of the New York State League, for three seasons, and in 1908 was captain of the Elmira team, in the same association. Hank Haney, manager of the Elmira Club, writes of Lawler as a man who will command the respect of his players, and will be able to hold his own on the diamond. He was third in the batting list of the New York State League last year, and Lipe has been recommended, and may probably be brought again into the league. Win Clarke has signed to lead Norfolk, and Stanford, formerly of Danville, will pilot the Truckers. Shaughnessy is expected to return to Roanoke. Games have been arranged for between Richmond and the Washington Club, of the American League, for March 18 and 19.

FIRST CHASE OF DEEP RUN HOUNDS

Inclement Weather Does Not Interfere With Success of the Sport.

Cast in the held back of the clubhouse, the Deep Run hounds and hunters set a swift pace in the first run of the season yesterday afternoon, going eight miles to a finish near the starting point. Despite inclement weather, a good crowd participated in the sport, which was led by James W. Graves, acting M. F. H., on Kingsman, and President Barton H. Grundy, on Welbourne. Seven couples of hounds showed up beautifully, never losing the scent during the excitement of the chase. The meet was at 3:30 o'clock, and the run was through Rosewood, Bloomington, Lakeside, Warwick's, McDermott's, Lay's, Dr. Dunn's, the Ginter estate, to the clubhouse. Rain prevented some of the members from entering, but conditions for the sport were ideal under foot, the ground being in its shape for the dogs to show up to the best advantage. The meet next Saturday will be at the same hour. Those taking part yesterday were: Archer Anderson, Jr., on Ochorus Girl; E. D. Harris, on Gates; E. B. Snyder, on Robin Hood; J. A. White, on Iron Horse; Miss Warfield, on Cranshaw; on Grace; Miss Gwendolyn, on Ruthford, on Black Beauty, and Huntman Draper, on Allen Bracht. Several jacks, rode mounts belonging to club members. Those resting at the clubhouse after the hunt were: Mrs. A. S. Buford, Jr., Mrs. F. E. Nolting, Miss Caroline Reynolds, Miss Maude Morgan, and Mrs. Erskine Buford.

FEWER DEATHS FROM BASEBALL IN 1909 SEASON

Diamond Is Responsible for 30 Fatalities, 12 Less Than in 1908, Big Leagues Excluded.

The following table gives the comparative number of deaths in baseball, football and auto racing since 1906. Year. B.B. F.B. Auto. Totals. 1905..... 11 31 32 74. 1906..... 19 16 3 38. 1907..... 13 13 7 33. 1908..... 42 21 8 71. 1909..... 30 7 16 53. Totals..... 113 78 34 225. The toll of life of the 1909 baseball season is twelve less than the fatalities of the preceding year. The past season on the diamond has been responsible for thirty deaths, of which eighteen can be credited as being directly due to the sport. Similar to the fatalities of 1908, a majority killed during the 1909 season belonged to some amateur club playing but once a week. Barely a player is killed in any of the big leagues. Many of this season's deaths were due to unusual happenings. Several were struck by lightning, while one fell over an embankment chasing a fly ball. Another was hit by an automobile while running after a ball, while another was hit on the head by a brick, thrown by some unknown person. Some incidents were of most dramatic character. Charles "Cupid" Pinkney, of the Dayton Central League team, was playing in one of the closing games of the season, when Scratch Hammond, who was pitching for Grand Rapids, hit Pinkney in the head with the ball. Pinkney's aged father came all the way from Cleveland to see the game. It was the first game that the aged Mr. Pinkney ever saw his son play. Stepped Into Hole. After catching a long fly and having received rounds of applause for the good play, James Phelps, at Monroe, La., on July 23, stepped into a log hole. A snake bit him and caused his death. John Chenaunt was hit over the heart in a game at French Lick, Ind., on July 10. The umpire told him to take his base, not thinking that the injury was serious. He got half way down to first base, when he toppled over dead. On September 5, at Pittsburgh, Pa., John Stauffer was pitching. There were three men on the bases, and nobody out, when a hit would have won the game for the opposing side. Upon striking out the first man who stepped to the plate, Stauffer was applauded by spectators. The excitement became more intense when he struck out the second man, and when he fanned the third man, winning the game for his side, the crowd fairly went wild. The excitement was too much for Stauffer, who, all of a sudden, dropped over dead from heart failure. Louis Brown, aged nine years, while pitching in a game at Pittsburg, was running backwards after a fly ball and fell over an embankment into the Allegheny River and drowned. Dominick Cerone was playing with a crowd of youngsters in the rear of a tenement house in New York, when a man, who was awakened by the noise of the players, threw a brick at the crowd. The brick hit Cerone on the head and he died two hours later. Fatalities in 1909. The following gives the list of baseball fatalities for 1909: August 19.—At Morehead, Ky.—Altiman, W. B., of Cincinnati, was hit in the head by a pitched ball and died as the result. August 18.—At Atlantic City, N. J.—Edford, William, a member of the Philadelphia Athletics, was killed while playing for the Philadelphia Athletics.

V. M. I. CADETS OVERWHELMED BY VIRGINIA BY LARGE SCORE

CAROLINA A. & M. DEFEATS CRIPPLED W. & L. ELEVEN

With Captain Izard and Others Out of Game, Varsity Shows Great Improvement Over Play in Tech Game, Losing 3 to 0.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] LEXINGTON, VA., November 6.—The North Carolina Agricultural and Mechanical College defeated Washington and Lee on Wilson Field to-day, 3 to 0. The game was desperately contested by the somewhat crippled varsity, and the Tarheels were unable to do anything with the stubborn White and Blue defense when within striking distance. Varsity Line Held Well. The greater part of the first half was played in Washington and Lee territory, but it was only after repeated efforts to gain over the varsity line that Hartsell tried for a dry kick. The kick was twice blocked, but on the third attempt he sent the ball over the bar in the last minute of play in the first half. On the second half the Tarheels started off with a rush, but the varsity fought more stubbornly, and the play was largely in Carolina territory. The White and Blue offense was not so good though the backfield got off fast. The varsity line was not so good as in the first half. Slims and Smart were on the side lines. The work of Washington and Lee's ends in going down under punts was poor. The Tarheel attack was greatly strengthened by beautiful interference, which enabled Hartsell to elude the end for good gains. For a while Slims, Stevens, Keaser, Glenn, Mott and Long played good games, the work of Stevens in running back punts being especially noticeable. Alderson, went through the Tarheel line for good gains, but the White and Blue backs seemed unable to play together to advantage. In the latter part of the second half the Tarheels improved in the style of play was marked, and the team showed much more aggressiveness with the regular back in the game. The Varsity should show great improvement for next Saturday's game with Carolina. The line-up: V. M. I. Positions. W. & L. Stafford, left end. Hutcheson, left tackle. O'Quinn, left guard. Bruce, right guard. Blackburn, right tackle. Morales, right half back. Osborn, left half back. Burko, quarter back. Stevens, full back. Wilson, center. Hartsell, left half back. Keaser, right half back. Earwood, full back. Alderson, (Ordeman) (Capt.), full back. Summary: Goal from field—Hartsell. Referee, Moore. Umpire, Davidson. Captain Doyle, of V. M. I. Head Linesman, Dr. Graham, of Davidson. Time of halves, 25 minutes.

Varsity Has No Trouble Winning Last Game on Lambeth Field. VISITORS FIGHT TO LAST. Varsity's Line Plunges in First Half Demoralize Them, However. CHARLOTTEVILLE, VA., November 6.—Virginia on Lambeth Field this afternoon defeated the V. M. I. team, 21 to 0, scoring 23 points in the first half. Gell and Thraves were not in the game, and in the second half nearly all of the regulars gave way to substitutes that the stars might be saved for the two hard games to follow. While the men that beat Carolina were never in the running they were game to the end and put lots of life in their play by continually urging each other on. Despite the threatening weather, the largest crowd of the season was on hand and remained through until the end, although a thunderstorm broke on the second half, drenching players and spectators. Virginia played a fast game from the jump, and literally swept the cadets from their feet. Four touchdowns were scored in the first half, and three of these were converted into goals by Captain Yancey. In the second period Captain Yancey landed a goal from placement, and Stanton got away around the end for another touchdown. Virginia's first touchdown came at the very opening of the first half. With the ball in Virginia's possession in midfield, Bowen tried a short kick. The ball was snatched up by a player who ran within six inches of the goal line. On the next play Yancey shot through center for a touchdown. Yancey kicked the goal. Peague kicked off to Elliott, who returned the ball for the twenty-five-yard line. After that Yancey had been thrown for a loss by Coffey, Bowen punted to midfield. Failing to gain, the cadets punted to Yancey. Stanton skittered right and for twenty yards and Yancey followed with ten through the line. The Virginia captain added seven more and a double pass from the line for a touchdown. The pigskin on the visitors' fifteen-yard line. Two line plays netted four yards, and Stanton plunged through left tackle for a touchdown. Yancey kicked the goal. These two touchdowns seemed to demoralize the cadets, for Virginia found it easy to skirt the ends thereafter. Christian got away for thirty yards, and later Stanton added twenty-five, knocking off a half dozen men who attempted to tackle him. Christian ploughed through the line for eight yards, and Yancey romped across the line for a touchdown. He failed to kick goal. Only three plays were necessary to score another touchdown. After receiving the kick off Yancey made thirty yards on a fake kick, Stanton then got away for a magnificent run of sixty yards, and crossed the goal line with no cadet anywhere in tackling distance. Yancey kicked goal. In the second half Virginia slackened her pace because of the slippery gridiron. Early in the second period Yancey failed at goal. Five minutes later dropped a pass between the uprights from the thirty-yard line. The feature in this half were the quarterback runs of Todd, who was substituted for Goode. Once he got away for thirty yards and later added forty before he was overtaken. The visiting cadets put up a plucky defensive game, but were very weak on the offense. Only twice during the contest were they able to gain the necessary ten yards, in the middle of the second half Mosley skirted Virginia's right end for fifteen yards, and in the darkness, just before the whistle blew, the same player got through the line for thirty yards. During the intermission the goals of the Lambda Pi fraternity caused the crowd with a most football game. (Continued on Third Page.)

CORNELL UNABLE TO HOLD HARVARD

Crimson's Plunging and Impregnable Defense Defeat New Yorkers 18 to 0.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., November 6.—It was Harvard's plunging and "help the runner" attack and stonewall defense that defeated Cornell in the first meeting at football between the two universities in twelve years, on Soldiers' Field to-day, by a score of 18 to 0. One touchdown was made in the first half after eighteen minutes of play, and two more were added in the second with goals from all three. Crimson Defense Strong. Twice in the first half Cornell managed to struggle inside the Harvard thirty-yard line, only to be hurled back by the charge of the Crimson forwards. There were fifteen distinct scrimmages in which Harvard had the ball. 453 yards were covered. Cornell players were always on the defensive, but showed some fine football and uncovered one of the most intricate, spectacular and well-executed forward passes that has been seen on the gridiron. The play netted Cornell a clean twenty-five yards, while the Harvard players stood like statues waiting for some opponent to start running. GEORGE WASHINGTON LOSES. Catholic Indians Win by the Close Margin. WASHINGTON, November 6.—With the comparatively close score of 9 to 6 the glories of the day went to the Catholic Indians after an exciting and well-played game against George Washington University here to-day. The first event of the Red Skins' game was the forty-yard and touchdown made by Houser, full back, through his successive line plays.

COY AND M'KAY IN PUNTING DUEL

Yale Man Outpunted in First Half, But Comes Back Strong.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] NEW HAVEN, CONN., November 6.—In the fastest and best game seen at Yale Field to-day, Yale and Harvard met for the first time since his sophomore year, Yale saw Coy outpunted, but the way he came back in the second half and outpunted McKay made the 15,000 watchers forget the first half. While Yale was unable to score more than once in the first half, and while that was indirectly the result of a forward pass rather than line plunges, still in the second half Yale came back strong, encouraged by the presence of Philbin, and scored seventeen points. Summary: Yale Positions. Brown, left end. Garman (Brooks), left tackle. Kratz, left guard. Sleson, center. Wolcott, right guard. Raquet, right tackle. Regnier (Loran, needle), quarter back. Sprackling (Covey, Johnson), full back. Coy, left half back. Young (Hills), right half back. McKay (Robinson), right half back. High (Philbin, Taylor) (Alldorfer, Adams), full back. Savage, Philbin, Taylor, (Alldorfer, Adams), full back. Umpire, M. J. Thompson, of Georgetown. Referee, Vail, of Pennsylvania. Field Judge, Evans, of Williams. Head Linesman, Burleigh, of Harvard. Time of halves, 25 and 30 minutes. Attendance, 15,000. To Play Exhibition Game. An exhibition game of football will be played Tuesday afternoon between the John Marshall High School eleven and the Third Street team. The High School plays McQuire's next Friday at Broad Street Park in the fourth game for the interscholastic championship of Richmond.
